This memorandum was prepared to enable distribution to more than one congressional office.

This memorandum is an addendum to a CRS memorandum, dated April 5, 2011, which summarized certain statutorily imposed deadlines in the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (ACA)¹ and the actions taken through April 1, 2011, to meet those deadlines.² That product focused on the ACA provisions requiring the Secretary of Health and Human Services (HHS) or another federal official or agency to take a specific action by a specific date within the first year of the law's enactment (i.e., through March 23, 2011).

The April 5, 2011 memo described the methodology used to determine what constituted a statutory deadline and whether the provision qualified for inclusion. To make those determinations, CRS relied on a close reading of the statutory text, acceptable principles of statutory interpretation, and subject matter expertise regarding typical implementing agency practice in the issue areas covered by the ACA. Accordingly, several categories of provisions were excluded.³ This addendum employs the same methodology, the details of which are reproduced in the Appendix. In addition, the April 5, 2011 memo

¹ ACA was signed into law on March 23, 2010 (P.L. 111-148, 124 Stat. 119). On March 30, 2010, the President signed the Health Care and Education Reconciliation Act (HCERA; P.L. 111-152, 124 Stat. 1029), which amended numerous provisions in the ACA. HCERA also included multiple new freestanding provisions related to the ACA. Several other bills that were subsequently enacted during the 111th and 112th Congresses made additional changes to selected ACA provisions. All references to the ACA in this memo refer, collectively, to the law as amended and to the related HCERA provisions.

² CRS Congressional Distribution Memorandum, "Deadlines for the HHS Secretary and Other Federal Entities in the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (ACA; P.L. 111-148), March 23, 2010 – March 23, 2011: Implementation Actions Taken as of April 1, 2011," by C. Stephen Redhead and Todd B. Tatelman, April 5, 2011.

³ The largest category, by far, of excluded provisions were those that merely had an "effective date" attached to them, as opposed to a specific deadline for official government action. For example, the ACA made numerous changes to existing Medicare payment systems, either permanently or on a temporary basis, effective at the beginning of the payment year. In almost all cases, the Centers for Medicare & Medicare Services (CMS) has opted to address these changes in its annual rulemaking updates for the various payment systems. For example, the annual final rules updating Medicare payment policies and rates for physician services and for hospital inpatient services both include multiple sets of provisions to incorporate and implement ACA mandates.

also included some analysis of the legal enforceability of statutory deadlines, which also appears in the Appendix.

The statutory deadlines discussed in this addendum are presented in three tables. Table 1 provides updated information on a number of deadlines that were included in the April 5, 2011 memo (i.e., deadlines within the first year of the ACA's enactment, through March 23, 2011). These were deadlines about which we were unable to locate any public information, or for which no, or only partial, implementation action had been taken as of the cut-off date in that memo (i.e., April 1, 2011). Table 2 summarizes the ACA provisions that require the HHS Secretary or another federal entity to take specific action by a specific date during the second year of enactment (i.e., March 24, 2011, through March 23, 2012). Table 3 summarizes the provisions in the ACA that require the federal entity to take specific action by a specific date during the third year of enactment (i.e., March 24, 2012, through March 23, 2013).

Each table row entry includes the following information: (1) the deadline; (2) the ACA section number; (3) a brief description of the provision's requirements; and (4) a summary of the actions taken as of April 15, 2014. The information on actions taken as of that date is largely, but not exclusively, based on an examination of publicly available sources. In obtaining this information, CRS relied on official federal sources, such as agency websites and the Federal Register.⁴ If CRS was unable to find any public information about implementation of an ACA provision using these sources, then this is indicated in the table by the phrase "No public information located." That indication does not necessarily mean that an agency or other federal entity has taken no action towards meeting a deadline. It may be that there has been internal activity, but that CRS was unable to locate any public information about the activity.⁵

Acronyms

The following laws and federal agencies are referred to in the tables by their acronym:

- Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC)
- Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS)
- Community Living Assistance Services and Supports (CLASS) Act
- Food and Drug Administration (FDA)
- Government Accountability Office (GAO)
- Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA)
- Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA)
- Indian Health Care Improvement Act (IHCIA)
- Indian Health Service (IHS)
- Public Health Service Act (PHSA)

⁴ A more comprehensive analysis of federal government actions taken to meet ACA deadlines would require the examination of internal agency documents and interviews with agency officials. Such activities are beyond the scope of this memorandum. However, CRS did rely on personal communication with the IHS Congressional and Legislative Affairs Office for information on implementation of several of the ACA provisions relating to Indian health, with the CMS Office of Legislation, and the with HRSA Office of Legislation.

On Aug. 8, 2011, CMS published the FY2012 SNF final rule (76 Federal Register 48486), in which it indicated that the proposed changes to implement ACA Sec. 6101 would be issued at a later, but unspecified, date. No additional public information on the implementation of 6101(a) has been located. The HHS/OIG has indicated that it is reviewing SNF ownership disclosure information and state and federal processes for verifying this information. Regulations implementing ACA Sec. 6102 have yet to be issued; however, prior to ACA's enactment nursing facilities were required to have an effective compliance program in place. The HHS/OIG has published guidance on implementation of compliance and ethics programs that are effective until new regulations are issued. See 73 Federal Register 56832, Sept. 30, 2008, "OIG Supplemental Compliance Program Guidance for Nursing Facilities," http://www.gpo.gov/fdsys/pkg/FR-2008-09-30/pdf/E8-22796.pdf .

Appendix. Methodology for Determining Statutory Deadlines and their Legal Enforceability

The following material is reproduced from the CRS Congressional Distribution Memorandum, “Deadlines for the HHS Secretary and Other Federal Entities in the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (ACA; P.L. 111-148), March 23, 2010 – March 23, 2011: Implementation Actions Taken as of April 1, 2011,” by C. Stephen Redhead and Todd B. Tatelman, dated April 5, 2011.

Categorical Exclusions

Given the complexity of the ACA and the variety of legislative drafting techniques used, CRS was required to make a number of decisions as to whether a specific provision qualified for inclusion in the tables. To make those determinations, CRS relied on a close reading of the statutory text, acceptable principles of statutory interpretation (commonly referred to as “canons”), and subject matter expertise regarding typical implementing agency practice in the issue areas covered by the ACA. As a result of our review of the ACA, several categories of provisions, described below, were excluded from the tables.

Effective Dates

Perhaps the largest category of exclusions were provisions that merely had an “effective date” attached to them, as opposed to a specific deadline for official federal government action. For example, ACA Sec. 1001, which adds new sections to the Public Health Service Act (PHSA), requires the HHS Secretary to define several terms related to private health insurance coverage. Pursuant to ACA Sec. 1004, these definitions took effect on September 23, 2010. However, because the ACA did not provide a specific date for the Secretary’s actions, merely an effective date, the provisions were not included in the tables.

In contrast, it should be noted that there are a few provisions in the ACA where an effective date operates as a deadline. For instance, in ACA Sec. 10501(i), the Administrator of the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) is directed to develop and implement a new prospective payment system for federally qualified health centers. The ACA establishes January 1, 2011, as the effective date of the provision. Given that the only lawful way in which the effective date can be met is if CMS takes the necessary actions to authorize payments to qualified centers the effective date functions as a deadline. Thus, this type of provision was included in the tables. However, several other ACA provisions that require CMS to modify existing Medicare payment systems, either permanently or on a temporary basis, were not included in the tables. These types of provisions are being implemented as part of CMS’s annual rulemaking updates for the applicable Medicare payment systems.⁶

Medicaid and Medicare Benefit Expansions

The ACA includes a number of provisions that require coverage of new Medicare benefits, effective for services provided on or after a specified date. None of these provisions are included in the tables. While the effective date appears to operate as a deadline, there is no explicit requirement for a specific action to be taken. As with the Medicare payment changes, CMS seems to have opted to implement the required benefit expansions in its annual rulemaking updates for applicable Medicare payment systems.⁷ The ACA also includes two provisions that mandate new Medicaid benefits (i.e., Secs. 2301 and 4107), both of which have an effective date. Again, while the effective date appears to operate as a deadline, there is no explicit requirement for a specific action to be taken. Moreover, meeting the deadline depends on actions to be taken by the states. For these reasons, the two provisions were not included in the tables.

Discretionary Appropriations

Another category of provisions that has been excluded from the tables are those that contain deadlines that are contingent on future appropriated funds. In other words, even if the ACA authorized the funding, without an actual appropriation, it is unlikely that the deadline will be binding. Because Congress is not legally required to appropriate funds, even for authorized programs, there is nothing that guarantees the entity charged with meeting the deadline will have the necessary funding to do so. ACA Sec. 3503 serves as an example of such a provision. It requires the HHS Secretary to establish a grant program to support medication management services provided by pharmacists. Although the ACA provided an authorization of appropriations for this grant program, there is no actual funding available and, therefore, the provision is contingent on future appropriations by Congress that are discretionary. Thus, inclusion of the provision as a deadline is arguably misleading as Congress must first act to provide the funding, which they are under no legal or political obligation to do.⁸

Transfer Payments

Several provisions in the ACA require the transfer of funds from one federal account to another within a specified fiscal year. For example, ACA Sec. 3014 requires the HHS Secretary to transfer $20 million from the Medicare Trust Funds to CMS's Program Management Account for each of FY2010 through FY2014 for the development and adoption of Medicare quality and efficiency measures, among other things. As these transfers can legally be executed at any point during the relevant fiscal year, there does not appear to be a definitive deadline for agency action. Thus, these and other similar transfer provisions were excluded from the tables.⁹

Non-Federal Government Actors

A number of provisions in the ACA that contained deadlines imposed these deadlines on non-federal actors, such as state governments, third-party groups, or private insurance providers. For example, ACA Sec. 1001 prohibits health plans from rescinding coverage except in instances of fraud or misrepresentation. That provision, along with several other ACA provisions that apply to health plans and health insurance issuers, became effective for plan years beginning on or after September 23, 2010. As the provision does not require any action on the part of a federal government agency or official to become effective, it and similar provisions were excluded from the tables. Likewise, ACA provisions that imposed deadlines on state officials, including several Medicaid provisions, were excluded both because of the voluntary nature of the Medicaid program itself, but also because the various states do not have uniform methods and mechanisms for complying with such deadlines. Thus, providing information on compliance would require a survey of each separate jurisdiction.

⁷ For example, ACA Sec. 4103 requires Medicare Part B to cover personalized prevention plan services, including a comprehensive health risk assessment, effective January 1, 2011. CMS addressed this new benefit in the final rule updating the Physician Fee Schedule for 2011. The final rule was published in the November 29, 2010 Federal Register. See <http://edocket.access.gpo.gov/2010/pdf/2010-27969.pdf>.

⁸ For a summary of all the programs in ACA that are subject to discretionary appropriations, see CRS Report R41390, Discretionary Funding in the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (ACA), coordinated by C. Stephen Redhead.

⁹ For a summary of all the Medicare fund transfers in ACA, see CRS Report R41301, Appropriations and Fund Transfers in the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (ACA), by C. Stephen Redhead.

Other Exclusions

In addition to the categorical exclusions discussed above, there were several other provisions of the ACA that contained deadlines that are not included in the tables. For instance, ACA Sec. 4306, which appropriated funds for an obesity demonstration program authorized by the Children's Health Insurance Program Reauthorization Act of 2009 (CHIPRA),¹⁰ was not included because the February 4, 2011 deadline for awarding a grant is contained in CHIPRA, not the ACA. Another excluded provision, Sec. 4101(a), requires the HHS Secretary to create a grant program for the establishment of school-based health centers. The provision appropriates funding for the program for each of FY2010 through FY2013, with the funds to remain available until expended, but it does not establish a definitive deadline for starting the program. Thus, because the deadline is ambiguous and the agency could use the funds at any time between FY2010 and FY2013 the provision was excluded. Similarly excluded was Sec. 6403, which among other things requires the HHS Secretary to terminate the Healthcare Integrity and Protection Data Bank and transfer the data to the National Practitioner Data Bank. This action must be completed by March 23, 2011, or a date determined by the Secretary through regulation, whichever is later. Because the Secretary retains discretion in setting the effective date, the provision was excluded as having an ambiguous deadline.

Finally, it should be noted that ACA Sec. 5605 was omitted from the tables as well. This provision imposed a deadline directly on congressional leadership, specifically the Speaker and Minority Leader in the House of Representatives and the Majority and Minority Leaders in the Senate, to appoint members of a commission by April 22, 2010. The commission, once constituted, then has statutorily imposed annual reporting deadlines. Finally, the National Academy of Sciences is required to take specific actions based on deadlines met by the commission. The congressional leadership did not meet the deadline for appointing the commission members. As each subsequent deadline is contingent on the appointment of the members of the commission, it appears that they cannot be satisfied as the commission's members have not yet been appointed. The expiration of the 111th Congress raises the question of whether the leadership of the 112th Congress, which convened on January 5, 2011, is lawfully required to make the commission appointments. It would appear that the answer is no. The principle at issue is that one Congress cannot bind a future Congress.¹¹ The incoming leadership may, of course, choose to make the appointments, but it would be doing so voluntarily, not out of any legal obligation.

Legal Effect of Deadlines

As a matter of administrative law, the enforceability of statutory deadlines is handled primarily via private civil litigation against the agency for failure to comply with the deadline. Typically, reviewing courts have deferred to the judgment of the agencies with respect to claims that they have unreasonably delayed action or violated statutory deadlines. In one prominent example, the Circuit Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia (D.C. Circuit) declined to compel a rulemaking by the Mine Safety and Health Administration (MSHA) even though the agency had violated a statutory deadline for completing regulation.¹² The court did, however, agree to retain jurisdiction and required MSHA to report regularly on the status of its rulemaking process.¹³ In another decision, In re Bluewater Network,¹⁴ the D.C. Circuit established standards for adjudicating unreasonable delay cases, in which the relevance of congressionally imposed deadlines was specifically discussed. The court noted that the general rule ought to be a “rule of reason,” which is arguably consistent with the traditional deference afforded to agency judgment over rulemaking priorities. The court noted, however, that “where Congress has provided a timetable or other indication of the speed with which it expects the agency to proceed in the enabling statute, that statutory scheme may supply content for this rule of reason.”¹⁵ The permissive language used indicates that congressional deadlines will not always supplant the “rule of reason,” but depending on the specific situation before the court, statutory deadlines may overcome the court’s traditional deference to agency priority setting.

Congress may not always wish to rely on judicial enforcement of its statutorily imposed deadlines. In some cases, though not in any of the ACA provisions reviewed and included in the tables below, it has sought to impose legislative “hammers” or legal consequences on an agency’s failure to adhere to a deadline. Some examples of previous “hammers” have included the automatic imposition of a congressionally regulated result,¹⁶ a requirement that an agency’s proposed rule take effect if a final rule was not promulgated by the deadline,¹⁷ and the loss of agency funding if the final regulations were not promulgated by the statutory deadline.¹⁸ As previously noted, none of the provisions in the ACA establishing deadlines on agency implementation appear to contain any type of legislative “hammer.” Thus, it would appear that enforcement of any of these deadlines is to be left either to political enforcement, such as through congressional oversight and/or other forms of legislative pressure, or to the types of civil litigation discussed above.
